

Fireworks

- Not everyone enjoys fireworks, especially not animals, but they are bold and bright and draw the crowds.
- Do I have the confidence to show my true colours to the world? I may be loud and flashy like a firework, or gentler and quieter, but am I happy to show people who I really am?
- If not – what is stopping me? What would it take for me to celebrate who I am and live life to the full?

'Baby you're a firework, come on let your colours burst!'

Katy Perry

- Fireworks are over in a moment, but our lives can have a lasting impact on those around us – if we have the courage to be ourselves!