

Liturgical Colours

Used during Advent and Lent.

Used for Palm Sunday, Good Friday, Pentecost and the Feast of the Apostles and Martyrs.

Used during Christmas, Epiphany and Easter; Trinity Sunday and All Saints' Day.

Ordinary time, where weeks are counted down between major seasons.

On Good Friday, black is sometimes used. Some churches are simply bare at this time instead of using colours for symbolism.

Did you know?

The church year begins with Advent.

Colours play an important part of the worship of the Church and they change according to the seasons of the Church year. Colours are a primary source of symbolism, and communicate to worshippers much about the nature of the lessons heard during the Liturgy of the Word (which are themed according to the seasons), and about what is done during worship.

A free Church of England app called 'Lectionary' is available on Android and Apple devices. You can use this to access Bible readings as well as checking the current liturgical colour.
