Diocesan Prayer Cycle (DPC)

Bishop Rhiannon writes...

In June the very-much-loved Old Testament theologian, Walter Brueggemann, died, aged 92. Alongside his scholarship (he wrote 58 books) he loved to pray.

In one of his published prayers he prayed this:

“Lord, I come to you for a deep rest today. I spend so much of my life dissatisfied: wanting more stuff, more money, more friends, more applause, more miracles. Today I put away my superhero cape and thank you, very simply, that, because I have you, I have everything I will ever truly need.”

To be honest, if I had written 58 books and was still going strong at 92 I’d also be asking God for a deep rest but, joking aside, there at times when we all need to unwind, to lie down in green pastures and to fold away our superhero capes, perhaps for another day.

May this cycle of prayer lead us to pray from a place of deep rest, knowing that God is in charge and we have everything we truly need.
