

Book

'Today is where your book begins, the rest is still unwritten.'

Natasha Bedingfield

- What are you writing in your book?
- Who are you writing it with? Do you see yourself as the hero of the story, or just one of many characters?
- Are you happy with the pages you've written so far, or are there changes you'd like to make in the next section?
- Are you ready to turn the page and see what happens in the next chapter? Are you looking for new adventures, or are you content with your life the way it is at the moment?
- Do you think that you write the pages, or that they've been written for you?